What is a 'Board Foot'?

Hardwood lumber is typically sold by the board foot, a unit of volume equivalent to a board that is one inch thick, one foot wide and one foot long, or 144 cubic inches. Use the following formula to calculate the board footage of a piece of lumber.

$$\text{length"} \times \text{width"} \times \text{thickness"} \div 144 = \text{bdf}$$

When calculating your lumber needs, don't forget to figure 15% to 20% additional due to waste!

MARINE PLYWOOD

HYDROTEK MERANTI is a multi ply marine plywood that is superior to all standard Meranti plywood currently produced and is manufactured to the British Standard 1088. Both face and inner plies are constructed from whole piece, color matched, Meranti veneers. Hydrotek is used in boat building applications where only the best will do. Hydrotek's durable rating will ensure that you are using a marine plywood that will last. Hydrotek has excellent machining properties as it can be easily sawn and routed leaving smooth edges. It also has good nailing and screw holding properties and is easy to stain and glue. Due to the multi ply construction, its strength properties are superior to other marine plywoods available and is well-suited for marine construction applications. Hydrotek Meranti is slightly heavier than Okoume ply. Sold in 48" x 96" panels.

JOUBERT OKOUME marine plywood is the highest quality marine plywood in the world. This particular ply is manufactured in accordance with British 1088 grading standards and is certified by Lloyd's of London as a type rated marine plywood. Okoume face veneers are rotary cut and suitable for staining and finishing for brightwork applications. Joubert Okoume is used in various types of boats. From small kayaks, to some of the largest yachts ever produced. Joubert marine plywood panels using 100% Okoume veneer is bonded with WBP phenol formaldehyde or melamine urea formaldehyde adhesive. Product of France. Sold in 48" x 98" panels.
